DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

The claims and specification are very confusing. Starting with the drawings, what kind of views are the drawings. Applicant states that figures 1A and 1B are one embodiment of the invention, yet, these two figures do not even show the insert in the same size. Is figure 1B a top view of Figure 1A? The minimal radius of curvature is not described in enough detail. How is the minimal radius of curvature at the transition zones X prime between the main cutting element and the contact edge. Also, the tool for which the device is intended to be used needs to be shown to better understand what applicant's invention really is. The way the claim is currently written, remembering that I do not understand what applicant is trying to claim, it appears all inserts having a polycrystalline diamond layer would read on the claim. Also, what is the purpose of the scallop 7 and how does it enhance the invention. Applicant is requested to carefully review the specification and claims for any and all errors and to better define applicant's invention. Also, no criticality for R/20 has been given.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is not understood what "configured in segments" means. "with at least segmental a radius R" is not understood. In line 3, "in the layer plane" has no antecedent basis. Also, it is not understood how the minimal radius of curvature in the transition zone X prime is related to the contact edge. Clarification is required.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of claims 1-5 in the reply filed on 7/5/05 is acknowledged.
